“ John was my very first mentor in life. I was a young wanna be commercial artist that operated the gallery camera at Willis Case Harwood. John took me under his wing and had me doing art and lettering exercises on top of my college courses. I spent a lot of time John before and after work. John was always there to teach me not only about art and business but about life and moral codes. John was a man above all others in my eyes. May God Bless John. Amen. Patrick Donovan

“ John brought so much old-school talent to WCH Advertising from where it started to what it was to when he retired. He recognized the brand new growing new computer world ... photoshop... "what's the heck is that"?! On a personal note, one day we were talking and he learned that I was singing with the DPO choir, and weeks later there he and Valeta were, on a very hot summer day, in their lawn chairs, and they were there cheering us on. I had barely left the stage and he was front and center, thanking me! I have very fond memories of him ...but, glad he's with Valeta... love and prayers up to you all

“ I was saddened to learn today about the passing of John. He was a truly talented artist who also understood the importance of the business of advertising. One of the many things he was good at was the production of presentation cards for our business. He was our "Power Point" before Power Point and his work played an important part in the success of the agency.

What I will always remember about John, however, was not business, but personal. My wife and I had the misfortune of losing a baby girl at birth. Because we had no family in Dayton a small service at Calvary Cemetery was planned. Somehow, John made the effort to find out about it and he was the only person, outside of family, to come to the service. At a very difficult time for us, his presence was a comfort. But that was John Bach. A very special person indeed. May he rest in peace.

“ I always enjoyed Mr. Bach while at the Hearth. He was always a gentleman to the staff and myself. He had a gleam in his eye and the sweetest sense of humor. I saw him care and love his wife. He had a very caring family that took him to church and out to dinner on Saturday evenings. My sympathy to his family. They're never be another John Bach.

“ Patty, MaryAnn and Martha

Your Dad was a very special person. I will never forget that he and your Mom were the first ones to the house when Dad died. He was so good to Dad through Dad's illness. He always said how much he thought of Dad and how much he missed him. That is how I feel about Uncle John. He was a kind and caring man. I will miss him and his many kind words of encouragement. He has a very special place in my heart.

God bless and keep you all,
Bev

“ Patricia, Mary Ann and Martha

I would like to offer my sympathy at the death of your father. At this time of pain and separation our faith gives us consolation in the words of Jesus, “I will raise him up.”

Indeed, may John know the joy and peace of the Risen Jesus Christ in Paradise forever. My prayers are with you.
