“ Doris, dear friend
I will miss you so. You always inspired me to keep making dolls. We enjoyed each other at lunch or sitting at your table. We talked about everything and anything. We would go down to your “museum” and we’d talk about the dolls and how much you loved them.
I’ll miss you at Christmas when I make your favorite candy.
I am lucky to have met you.
You will not be forgotten

Love.... Roberta

“ Aunt Doris: When I was young we (Aunt Doris and I) were in the backseat of a car and she taught me a game. You looked at license plates and tried to think of a word that had those letters in it and in the same order as the plate letters. I taught my children that game while we traveled long distances in a car. I still do that while sitting at a long red light. I remember lots of other things she told me about, but that is the one I still use even now. I haven't kept in close contact with Aunt Doris but when I did she always wrote back to say she enjoyed my "newsy" letters/cards.

“ Doris was such a good neighbor and always so interesting to talk to. I couldn't believe when she shared her age with me a few years ago. I would have never guessed her to be as old as she was and told her I hoped I had half her spunk when I got to be her age. She was kind, funny, smart, and thoughtful. She will be missed by many, I am sure. My condolences to all her family.
