“ Lisa and I worked together for almost 20 years at LexisNexis. While I ultimately ended up becoming her manager for probably the last 10 years, I will always remember her as a beloved, valued, and trusted colleague and friend.

Lisa introduced me to the Harry Potter books in 2003. She was scandalized that I hadn't read any of them and provided me with my very own copy of "Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone." Of course, then I was hooked. In fact, I remember seeing her and Elizabeth at the opening night at one of the movies (maybe Deathly Hallows - Part 1?) because reading the books meant that I had to see the rest of the movies the day they opened. I remember attending at least one (but it was probably more) Pampered Chef party with her early in my career at LN. I know my dog, Gucci, will miss her yummy (according to Gucci - I never tried them) dog treats.

We would always talk about her travels in our 1:1 meetings, and she would frequently ask me for time off when the weather was good so she could work in her garden. She always complimented me when I wore my purple shirt because it was her favorite color. Last year, we (Lisa, Elena, and I) celebrated her 20th anniversary at LN with lunch at Firebirds.

She had such a big impact on so many people at LN. We will miss her!
