Sales Manager was Bill’s “job”, being a walking encyclopedia of everything and anything to do with Airplanes was his passion. Dad loved game shows, crossword puzzles, reading Tom Clancy, David Baldacci, and James Patterson when he wasn’t turning the pages of his airplane magazines, watching his The Ohio State Buckeyes or golf tournaments. Long-time dedicated volunteer at Kettering Hospital until he “retired” to take care of his “Lou” during her final illness. He proudly served in the Army during the Korean Conflict as a drummer and enjoyed traveling with the Army Band entertaining the Troops. He helped his Fred J Miller lead the Miller Blackhawks Drum and Bugle Corp for several years, and his love of drumming continued as he would use any surface at hand to bang out a rhythm and!
